“Divining Weorthscipe”

Yes, that is spelled right...weorthscipe. The Old English etymology from which we derive the word worship, meaning "worthiness, respect, reverence paid to a divine being." Sometimes it was used in the sense of a title, as in Your Worship. But what else can it mean? What does it mean to consider things worthy of our time and attention? What has worth-ship?

Guest: Rev. Jack Gaede

The Rev. Jack Gaede is currently serving as Assistant Minister at White Bear UU Church in Mahtomedi, MN, after having completed his M. Div. at United Theological Seminary and his ministerial internship at All Souls UU Church in Kansas City, MO. He hails from Minnesota originally, he loves the Boundary Waters (where he just traveled recently), and he is glad to be visiting First UU Church of Rochester again.
